The River Seine through the eyes of a Master

06 October 2010

Ever aspired to see the world through the eyes of a great artist?

River cruise operator Avalon Waterways has announced an eight-day Art and Impressionist cruise down the River Seine with a focus on the fascinating world of leading French impressionist Claude Monet.

The cruise will visit sites that inspired some of Monet's most loved works, including his home and gardens in Giverny and, further north, the Cathedral at Rouen, which Monet captured in shifting hues in a series of paintings from different times of the day.

Starting in Paris on November 1, 2011, you will visit the renowned Musée d'Orsay accompanied by a specialist guide who will sharpen your appreciation of the master in preparation for days to come.

The cruise on board the boutique ship Avalon Creativity includes meals, accommodation, guided tours and entry fees. The 140-passenger Creativity features spacious staterooms with floor-to-ceiling windows and a fun pool on the top deck.
